The 1963-1964 session here at B. D. H. S. is a year of change. There is an air of expectancy concerning removal from the old building and the trailers to the long-awaited new school. There are more students and teachers than ever before. With the new building, will come separation from the elementary school and an expansion of facilities.

Change does not mean, however, that the best of the old will not survive. Indeed it will live and expand to broader horizons. Be it old or new, students will continue to say: "We have received here at B. D. H. S. invaluable training for our lives as citizens of the great country in which we live. Through our study and our play, through contacts with classmates, and with teachers, we have learned to know the true meaning of friendship, of loyalty, and of good citizenship."

In the following pages we wish to show in words and in pictures some of the people, events and things that have lead us to the gateway of the future -- our tomorrows.

MISS KINSEY BASS GREEN

To Miss Kinsey Bass Green, our Home Economics teacher and Student Council advisor for two years, whose steadfast devotion, efficient instruction, willing assistance, and friendly advice have inspired us all, we, the class of nineteen hundred sixty-four, respectfully dedicate this volume of THE FLASH.

Miss Green, a graduate of Mary Washington College, came to B. D. H. S. in July, 1960. As a high school student, she was elected secretary of the State S. C. A. and continued to show interest in the work throughout her college career. As sponsor, she has participated in workships, district and state conventions, as well as the County Federation.

She is at present enrolled in the graduate school of the University of Maryland where she is working toward her Masters Degree in Home Economics.

Petite and friendly, she appeals to youth and age with her sincerity, empathy, and concern for all.

THE PRESENT

Today Brentsville District High School has 270 students in Grades 8-12 of whom twenty-nine are Seniors. B. D. H. S. has a higher percentage of her graduates attending college than any other school in the county. Sixteen members of the faculty, a county nurse, an attendance officer, two custodians, six bus drivers, and four cafeteria workers contribute to the growth and development of the student body. A well-rounded curriculum, sports, and organizations furnish recreation, foster personality development, and provide academic training.

THE FUTURE

Tomorrow Brentsville District High School will probably include Grades 7-12 in a combined Junior and Senior High School. In a few years her 500 capacity will be reached necessitating the addition of the second unit already in the planning stage.

An expanded curriculum will permit a wider choice of subject fields. New clubs will develop, guidance personnel will increase, and a large-school atmosphere will prevail.

EXPANSION

Mrs. Martha Irvin, cafeteria manager, and her assistants -- Mrs. Mary Blankenship, Mrs. Mary Herring, and Mrs. Ellen Kearnes -- are responsible for the nutritious meals served to an average of 350 students per day.

Service Personnel Kept Busy

NTY PUBLIC SC

No matter what the weather, our faithful bus drivers, Mrs. Margaret Rector, Mrs. Elsie House, Mrs. Janet Dawson, Mr. Howard Marshall, Phillip Blankenship, Wade House, and Jimmy McMichael, transport approximately 675 students to school each day.

Our janitors, Mr. Robert Mayhugh and Mr. Walter Tolson, have operated fourteen furnaces and kept the six buildings and seven trailers clean for six years.

"Mr. Stuart M. Beville has completed ten years as superintendent of Prince William County Schools. In 1953 the enrollment was 4,100; today there are 14,500 with a prediction of 30,000 students by 1970. Ten years ago there were 197 teachers and 15 principals in the county. By comparison, the county now has 594 teachers, 26 principals, 24 school plants, and 100 school buses.

"The mushrooming growth of the county has brought unlimited problems and unblazed trails, but Mr. Beville has risen to the challenge of providing school facilities to serve 20,200 students by September 1964." MANASSAS JOURNAL MESSENGER

Mr. T. Clay Wood represents Brentsville District on the County School Board. He has served 12 years during which the school population has increased from 424 to 785. The opening of the relocated Brentsville District High School is a tribute to the sincere interest and foresight of Mr. Wood and the citizens of Brentsville District.

PRINCIPAL

Principal D. C. Link, who came to B. D. H. S. in 1950, has experienced tremendous growth in enrollment and a vast expansion in facilities since his arrival. The year 1964 will see him move with the high school into the new plant for which he is examining the blueprints. Mr. Link has given much time and thought to the program of studies, the effective use of space, and the needs of the students who will occupy the new B. D. H. S.

BRENTSVILLE DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL

Work began on Brentsville District High School in the spring of 1929 when the first scoop of dirt was moved by Maude and Mollie, a pair of mares owned by Mr. M. J. Shepherd. By May 2, the boiler room had been dug, and the walls were window height with the window frames set when a tornado swept through the community and leveled much of the construction.

The school opened on September 5, 1929, with eighty-eight students and eight teachers. The building consisted of six classrooms, two washrooms and an auditorium. Mr. C. O. Bittle was the first principal.

In February, 1953, a high school wing was added to the original structure which had itself been enlarged in 1947.

Fighting to maintain an enrollment of fifty in the thirties; then almost losing its life in the mid-forties to consolidation, B. D. H. S. stands as a tribute to the intense interest of the people of the community in the education of their children.

Three principals have directed the fortunes of the school -- Mr. C. O. Bittle (1929-1947), Mr. Cale Gibson (1947-1950), and Mr. D. C. Link (1950-).

ROLL CALL

CLASS OF '64

The Class of 1964 is unique in the annals of Brentsville District High School. The unusual chain of circumstances began in the seventh grade when theirs was the first class not to have graduation exercises. The next year they were informed that their class must have twenty units for graduation; this meant no more goofing-off in eighth grade.

Theirs was the last class to accompany Mr. Daly and the Juniors to Jamestown, and they sent Mrs. Murphy to the hospital with the weight of their themes and literature booklets. They will carry with them the memories of Mr. Daly's social studies classes (four years of them), and Mrs. Raborn's patience with the publication of the school paper.

The class has had its fun too with home basketball games, the banquet and prom, the junior class play HERE COME THE BRIDES, and the trip to Gettysburg.

The Senior year came as a big shock; never did they realize there was so much work to do. THE FLASH required endless hours of toil; the play was almost eclipsed by moving into the new school, and the senior trip produced an argument.

One honor no other class can share is that of being the first to graduate from the stage in the new auditorium-gym of the relocated Brentsville District High School. Other classes will surpass them in numbers as they have surpassed the long procession since 1930, but none other can claim the distinction of moving into a new school plant on March 14, 1964.

CLASS BOOSTERS

STANLEY KEYS SUSAN SPITTLE

Through the years Susan Spittle and Stanley Keys have been the ones to do the most for the class. In addition, Susan was chosen most intelligent, most likely to succeed, wittiest, and best dancer. Stanley was also voted best dancer, best dressed and friendliest.

The Senior Class is proud of its superlative seniors.

BRENTSVILLE
DISTRICT
HIGH SCHOOL

Something new among the Senior Superlatives is Mr. and Miss B. D. H. S. This honor went to Chuck Mastin and Joanne Hoffman.

The best looking and best dressed girl this year was Sheila Strickland, with Joe Burke as the most handsome boy.

WHO AND WHY

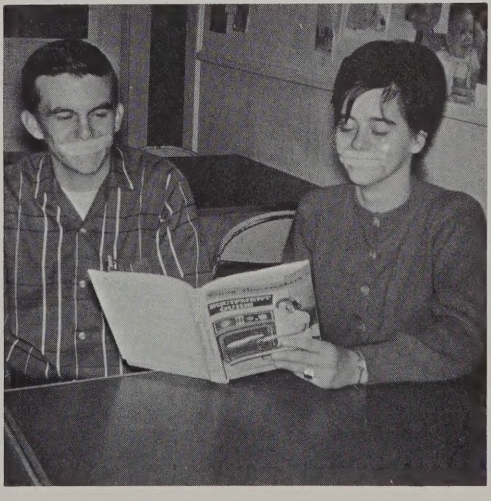
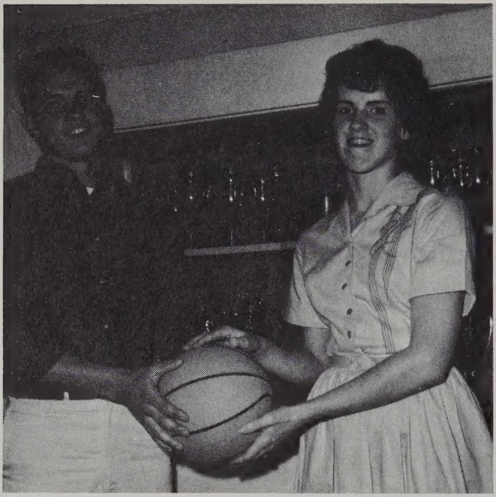
Each class has its clowns, and ours are Sandy Calloway and Butch Golladay. They were also the most talkative couple.

Eileen Milan and Carl Hopkins were chosen as the most dramatic.

Has anyone ever noticed how quiet Annie Coppage and Douglas Gough really are?





You know of course that Jane Lunsford and Joe Burke have been the most athletic in the class.

Can you imagine Annie Coppage and Galen Heddings not being chosen as the Future Homemaker and Farmer? Galen was also voted most intelligent.

AMONG OUR 29

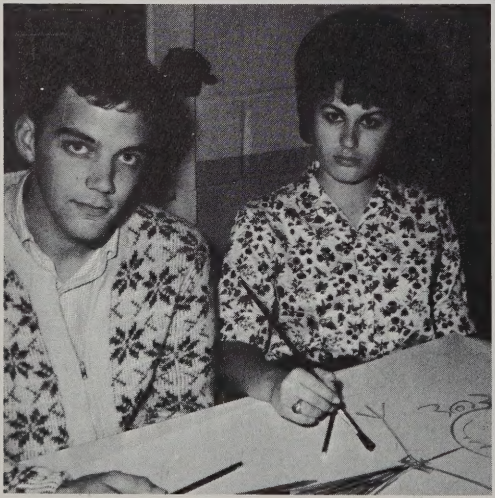
Who is the best all around? Linda Fountain and Chuck Mastin were elected to this superlative.

Ars gratia artis, the most talented students in our class are Ruth Ballinger and Carl Hopkins.



Something tells me that Eileen Milan and Joe Shifflett are the most flirtatious.

Reading Classes Available

Two new classes were added to the curriculum in 1963 as a result of in-service training by the high school faculty. Developmental reading instruction to increase speed, build vocabulary, and improve interpretation of various types of material was provided for Juniors and Seniors.

Remedial reading to build skills, correct faulty reading habits, and improve comprehension was opened to students in Grades 8 and 9. The classes were taught by Mr. James Cheek and Miss Page Tolleson. No credit was given during the first year of the program. Thirty students availed themselves of this opportunity to become better readers.

Math and Science Emphasized

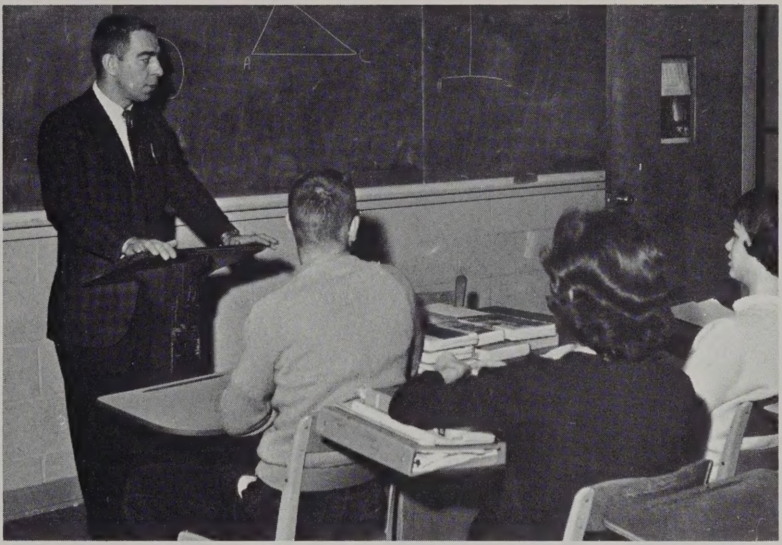
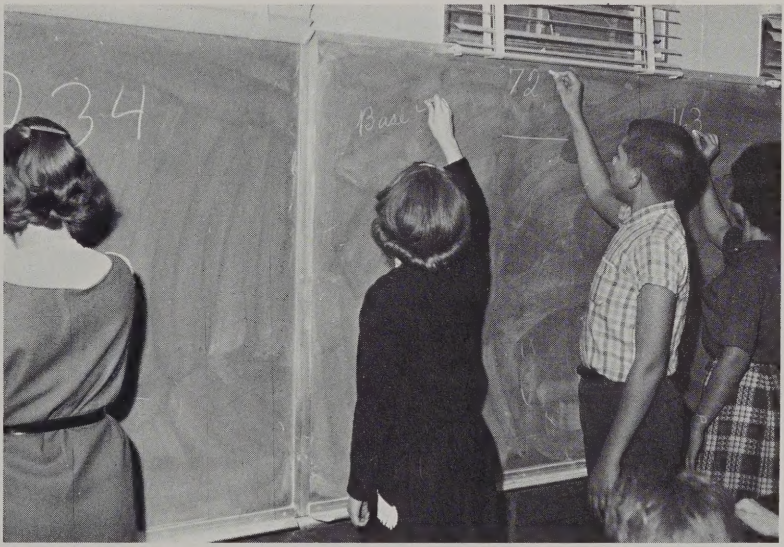
Plane and solid geometry with two years of algebra provides the college bound student with the background necessary for engineering as a career. Students who are mathematically inclined or especially interested find Mr. Parker's classes a challenge.



The public is becoming quite conscious that a revolution has occurred in the general math classes. New Math poses a problem with base seven, nine, etc. Mr. Gerald Gregory instructs Grades 8 and 9 to appreciate the reasons behind the mathematical processes.



Chemistry is somewhat on the technical side, and few care to become involved with its equations, molecular weights and discoveries resulting from the splitting of the atom. College bound and nursing students find the course a "must." Mr. Russell Jamison is the instructor.

Social Issues Correlated

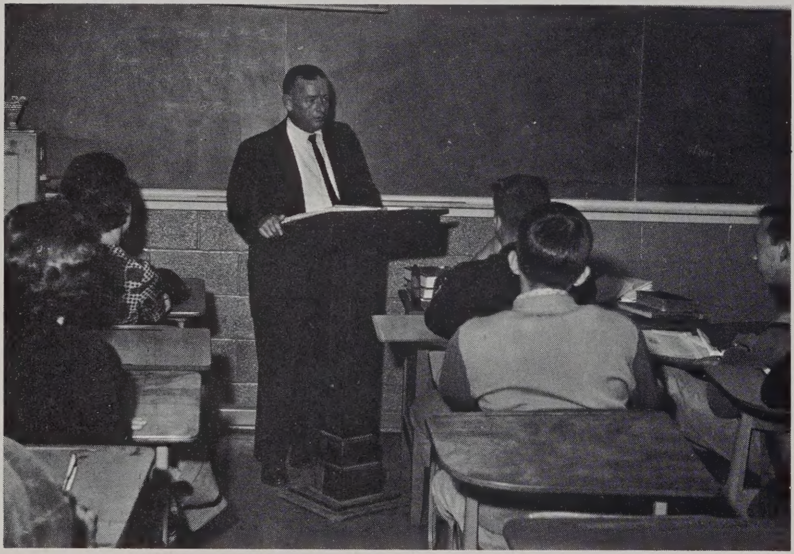
Three sections of biology are being taught by Coach Calhoun, Mr. Jamison, and Mr. Gregory. At B. D. H. S. biology is one of the two laboratory sciences required of each student. N. D. E. A. financial assistance has provided much new equipment for science classes.



Social Studies expanded to include nine sections under two teachers, Mr. Gartlan and Mr. Wilson. American Government and American History are required for graduation. Current social and political problems are emphasized as well as the governmental organizations of nation and state.

EUROPE AND THE MIDDLE EAST

New nations evolving in Africa as well as changing boundaries in other areas of the world are posing problems for the three geography classes. Extensive use is made of new maps, charts, and globes provided for World History, Social Studies 8, and the geography classes.

With Language Arts Skills

Five years of English are required for graduation. Miss Tolleson and Mr. Cheek are in charge of all English classes except English 9-3, taught by Mr. Wilson. Drama, public speaking, journalism, and writing have been given prominence among the juniors. Seniors study diction, English literature, and review grammar.

Fundamentals of language usage and mechanics of expression are emphasized in grades eight and nine. World literature is presented with the goal of a deeper appreciation for the writings and the peoples of all nations. Reading on ability level is planned for all students.

For the first time French classes were opened to both grades ten and eleven; the number of beginners in foreign language is now twenty. Pictured are the advanced students using the newly acquired Wollensak tape recorder purchased through N. D. E. A.

Vocational Training

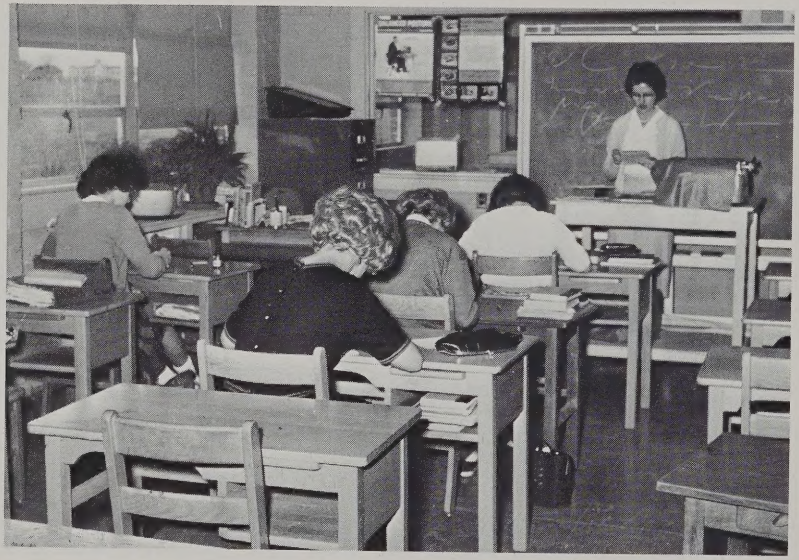
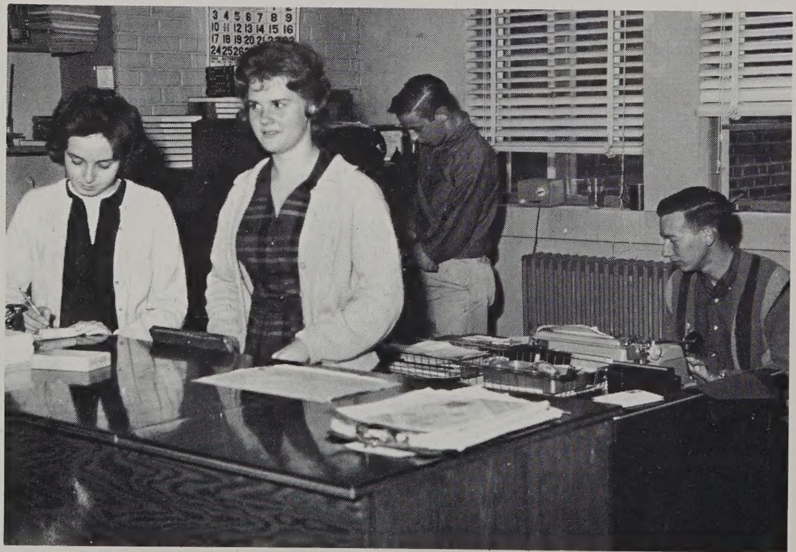
There are three classes of typing under the instruction of Mrs. Mary Raborn. Two of these are beginning classes; and the third, an advanced class. Typing has two objectives -- one to prepare students for a job, the second to teach personal typing. A goal of 60 words per minute is set for the end of the second year. In 1963, the department secured five new typewriters, bringing the total to 22.



Twenty-five students are enrolled in Gregg Shorthand. Of these, seven are in the advanced class. Goals for the year include 120 words per minute, mailable letters, and knowledge of general office procedure. Four new records were provided to give experience in taking dictation from different voices. Students in Shorthand 11 are seniors who expect to accept jobs in the secretarial field next year.



Office Practice, instituted in 1962, gives on-the-job training to second year students. Those pictured are Linda Fountain, library secretary; Janet Thomas, secretary for guidance department; Stanley Keys, office assistant; Butch Golladay, clerical assistant for library and guidance. Also, Jane Lunsford, (not pictured) office assistant. These students receive experience and credit for one or more hours in the practical application of skills learned in class.

Provided in Three Fields

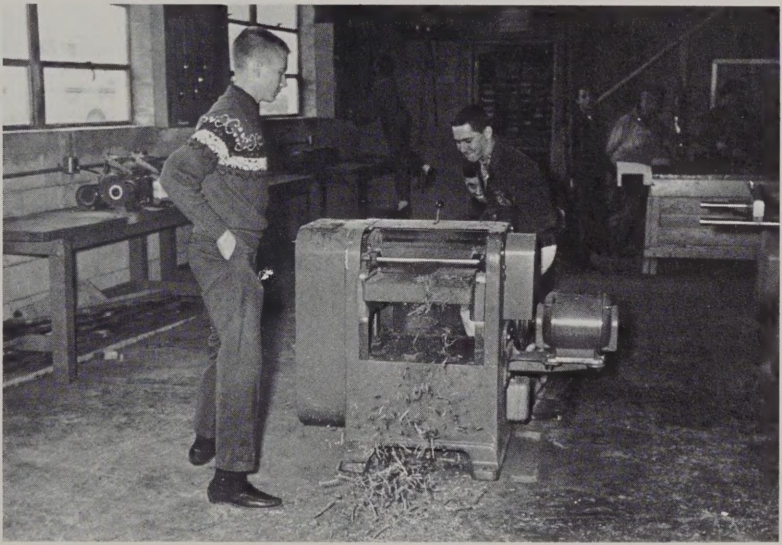
Home Economics classes give opportunity for study and practical experience in both the ART and SCIENCE of homemaking. Laboratory sessions in foods, clothing and child care offer realistic activities in preparation for these phases of family living. Home projects enrich classroom experience in money management, home care of the sick, personal grooming, nutrition studies, housing, home management, family relationships, and recreational hobbies.

The seventy students of vocational agriculture receive training in marketing and farm management, soil conservation and improvement. Considerable emphasis is given to farm mechanics involving the selection, care, maintenance, and operation of modern farm machinery. Instruction is also provided in the construction and maintenance of farm buildings. Field trips to observe good practices of farming are a part of the curriculum.



As an introduction to commercial work and for instruction in practical business procedures, students in grade ten learn of insurance, commercial travel, banking, income taxes, and other opportunities in the business field. Pictured are Darrell Powell, Ray Ridgley, John Keeney, Joyce Wade, John Collins, Johnny Mercer, and Jackie Osborne who represent the 29 students enrolled in General Business.

Leisure Activities Include

In keeping with President Kennedy's physical fitness program, boys and girls both participate in calisthenics, as well as indoor and outdoor sports. Skill tests are given each year to indicate improvement over the previous year and to determine weaknesses to be corrected. Not only is the program organized for physical development, but also to prepare for wise use of leisure time after graduation.

Consideration is being given to expansion in the physical education curriculum for girls. Plans include apparatus work and greater participation in field and track events. Calisthenics plus the usual indoor and outdoor sports not only build strong bodies, but provide the knowledge and skill for leisure-time activities. Physical education is required of all students in grades eight, nine, and ten.

Music, too, is a part of the B.D.H.S. curriculum. Students in band and chorus earn one-half credit, making it possible to get one unit a year in music. In band the 42 students have their choice of instruments. This year there is a Concert Chorus replacing the A Cappella Choir of last year. The Chorus consists of 18 voices from a Glee Club of 50.

Spotlight on Junior Play

THE PERFECT IDIOT by Eunice and Grant Atkinson was produced on November 9 by the Junior Class. The plot concerned the antics of a high school gang engaged in a craftily plotted scheme to enable a muscle-headed athlete to pass his semester exams. The group escaped expulsion through an invention of Dan Tennyson, the boy genius.

Highlight Social Season

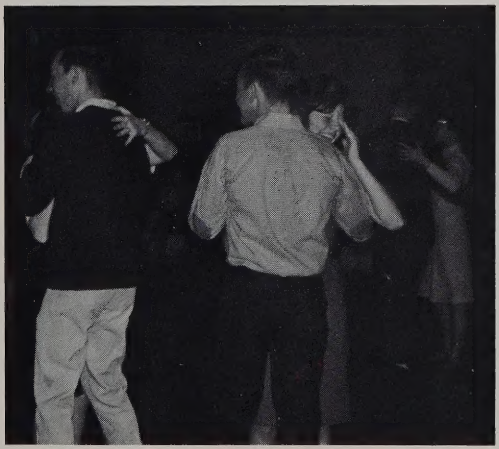
The Back to School Social was sponsored by the Student Council for the benefit of the eighth grade and other new students. This dance, held at the beginning of the year, was attended by many members of the Senior Class.



'The Beatle Hop," sponsored by the Football Team, so that they might raise some money for their equipment, was a great success.

Rat a Ta-Tat

A new but experienced band director assumed responsibility for the music program at B.D.H.S. in 1963. Especially interested in instrumental music, Mr. Ben Vickers came to Nokesville from Clintwood, Virginia; he holds a degree from Concord College. The late arrival of seven new uniforms limited participation in parades until December. The Christmas parade in Manassas on December 7 was the first public appearance of the band under its new director. In the spring, an active program came to a close with the annual concert.

Mrs. Raborn, advisor, stressed an important point on the layout of the November BUZZER to Mark Leroy, editor.

Typists for the Buzzer are: Susan Urbanski, Teddy Hess, Jerry Gray, Gayle Rector, Stewart Matthews, Mary Roughton, Mary Mayhugh.

The B. D. Buzzer donated $50 to the newly organized football team. It has also increased circulation to 315, the highest in its history. Because of unskilled typists, early issues of the BUZZER were difficult to produce since the paper is mimeographed by the students themselves.

Mark Leroy, editor, tells Mary Mayhugh, news editor, what is necessary from her for the November issue.
